A NOTE FROM OUR Founder

I remember April 4, 1968, James Earl Ray assassinated Martin Luther King, Jr. From the second-floor front window of my home, I watched as looters raided and destroyed the small store front businesses providing immediate sources of food to the community. In February of 1969, a snowstorm blanketed the city and residents had to walk to Eutaw and McMechan Street or as far as Charles Village to find open stores for food and other goods. During the 1970's St. Katherine of Alexandria Church began to organize residents to work for and demand local municipal and governmental assistance to revitalize the community. We began to plan for the comeback of our community. We were then and still are determined to work hard and fight for something greater than any one thing or person: us! In 2015, after the killing of Freddie Gray, a minimal number of the shops along Pennsylvania Avenue received damage from looting, but the corner stores located within the inner community were not looted because Druid Heights community residents stood together in front of our corner stores and our community center and said Not Again!

Druid Heights CDC continues to move forward diligently working to increase the community's number of vested owner-occupied residents and thriving businesses. We want the vacant, abandoned buildings replaced by energy efficient quality built new single-family homes and well-kept and well-managed multifamily dwellings. We want clean and safe streets and alleys. We want drug-free corners. Comparatively Druid Heights is a low-crime community. We want trash free curb side water drains unbroken by truck tires. We want an end to unlawful dumping on vacant lots. We will continue working closely with our local and governmental representatives whose feet are on- the- ground. Demand for our program services and our housing development of building new and rehabilitating homes in the community is at an all-time high. We consistently pre-sell all our single-family homes and create more open space for families to defend and enjoy. Our first time buyers counseling sessions fill-up quickly. Enrollment in our fun camp has doubled. We continue to provide case management to returning citizens and food distribution to needy families and transitional housing for single mothers and affordable housing for our beloved senior citizens.

As was and is, Druid Heights CDC and the community are partners working together to see the total revitalization of its beautiful, historic community once called "a diamond in the rough" by former Governor William Donald Schaefer. To quote my favorite Poet Maya Angelou, Druid Heights says, "And Still, I Rise."

MESSAGE FROM OUR Executive Director

Greetings to our community residents, stakeholders, and friends of Druid Heights Community Development Corporation (DHCDC). On behalf of the Board of Directors and staff, we welcome you to our Annual Report 2024. It is such an honor to be able to contribute to such a worthy vision and mission that works to serve residents in the Druid Heights community and beyond. As we continue to move forward, I'm excited to continue serving alongside the Druid Heights team throughout the Druid Heights community.

This season, we are highlighting the wonderful green space projects in the community! The creation of intentional green space assists the community in the transformation of vacant lots into an amenity to enhance the community's needs and speak to providing a safe space for all residents. We are grateful that we have been able to continue to connect with residents, families and community stakeholders for over 50 years in the Druid Heights community and beyond! DHCDC continues to connect with our residents through our departments which include Community Outreach, Reentry Program, Housing Counseling, and Real Estate Development. Through these programs and services, DHCDC has continued to serve as an anchor institution within the West Baltimore community.

This year DHCDC was able to connect with our partners and community stakeholders to serve over 3000 community residents.

We are excited to continue to provide affordable homeownership opportunities within the Druid Heights community such as the Bakers View Homeownership Project. While we are providing homeownership opportunities, DHCDC is also able to create sustainable partnerships that provide academic support to our youth in the community through our afterschool and summer camp programs. DHCDC is also able to continue supporting individuals who are working to return to society. Through our Reentry Program, DHCDC can partner and connect with stakeholders to continue providing workforce development and life skills training to individuals in the community. Through our Housing Counseling Program (#HUD Certified Proud), DHCDC can continue as a HUD Certified Agency to provide individual housing counseling and Homebuyer workshops to over 400 families and community members.

Next year, DHCDC will continue to empower our residents and celebrate 50 years! Through our continued service DHCDC creates long-lasting community partnerships, provides equitable community development practices, and creates sustainable outreach efforts within the Druid Heights community. We hope that you enjoy reading about the programs, projects, and services that we will continue to offer to our community residents in Druid Heights and the greater Baltimore community. As always, we look forward to seeing you in the Druid Heights neighborhood!

Yours in Service,

JohnDre Jennings

(HONORARIUM)

The Druid Heights CDC is celebrating 50 years of service in the Historic Druid Heights Community and once again, I am honored to share with you another highly successful year. We continue to have transformative client satisfaction, community and organizational advancement. The Druid Heights Community Development Corporation (DHCDC) continues to receive the support and accolades from the Druid Heights Community, which is a testament to our high standards and excellent work. Most importantly, our residents and families enjoy year round, ongoing supportive services.

The Druid Heights Community Development Corporation (DHCDC), a non-profit organization, was established in 1974 (50 years ago). DHCDC is governed by a 12-member Board of Directors that include political, corporate, and community representation. This has been a difficult year from a family perspective. Unfortunately one of long time members passed (Valeisia Newman Awuah). We push on with our mission to promote and encourage areas of community development and empowerment through numerous initiatives. The overall goal is to accelerate the revitalization of the neighborhood with self-empowerment, employment and economic opportunities all while creating a stable and safe community environment.

We are proud that DHCDC has been at the forefront of care since the very beginning, collaborating with government agencies and partners at the community and federal levels. Our progress has been made possible, in large part, by the community based partnerships we have forged over the years. We have joined forces with our stakeholders and other nonprofits to magnify our collective impact initiatives within Druid Heights and the greater Baltimore area. We continue to work with trusted advisors to help their clients find the best home for their philanthropy. And we rely on our many grantees to deliver services to our neediest fellow citizens and advocate for positive change. Note! Although we have had such a long time with all of our partners, every year we face the uncertainty of where our actual funding support will come from. So, to all of our valued partners we express our profound gratitude for all you do and continue to do.

Over the years, I have had the privilege of working closely with DHCDC's exceptional team. With our Executive Director, senior leadership and staff members, our team is second to none. They are enormously talented, hard-working, and caring. They always find a way step up to the ongoing challenges that we have. On behalf of an appreciative board of directors, I want to thank everyone on the DHCDC's staff for their efforts in making the Druid Heights community a better place for us all.

Hears to another 50 years.

Maggie Quille Center Story

The Druid Heights Maggie Quille Community Center opened in 2003 and developed from Fire Engine House #25. DHCDC continues to serve low-moderate families, build affordable housing for first-time homebuyers, provide housing to senior citizens, provide transitional housing for women and children, and provide homebuyer counseling to residents.

The mission of DHCDC is to cause, encourage and promote community self-empowerment through the development of economic, educational, employment and affordable housing opportunities. DHCDC works to fulfill our mission through several departments which include real estate, housing counseling, community outreach and re-entry programs. The community center currently serves as a hub within the Druid Heights community. In addition, Druid Heights Community Development Corporation. ANNUAL REPORT FEATURE

Tackling Pollution in our Community

CLEAN CORPS PARTNERSHIP

To help reduce the amount of pollution in the community, Druid Heights CDC partnered with Clean Corps to assist with this issue. Clean Corps is a multi-agency project, led by the Baltimore City Department of Planning, who works in many communities around the city including Druid Heights.

Druid Heights Green Community Master Plan

Druid Heights is a neighborhood in Baltimore City. It is approximately 57.9 acres and is generally bordered by North Avenue to the north, Pennsylvania Avenue to the west, Laurens Street to the south, and Madison Avenue to the east. The neighborhood is a part of the Old West Baltimore Historic District, which is nationally recognized as Baltimore City's premier African American community. With its grand, three-story row houses along Druid Hill Avenue and McCulloh Street, Druid Heights was home to many of the district's most prominent residents.

In partnership with community stakeholders, Druid Heights Community Development Corporation worked with University of Maryland to develop their Green Community Master Plan. The goals of the plan included 1) Repurpose vacant properties as public green space to help improve resident health and well being; 2) Improve pedestrian environment to ensure a comfortable, safe, and pleasant walking environment; 3) Increase tree canopy coverage to provide shading, cooling, and pollutant removal; 4) Create an environmental stewardship program to assist with maintenance of the green space(s).

CLEANER NEIGHBORHOODS

STEWARDS OF THE LAND

One of Baltimore's oldest and most historic neighborhoods in West Baltimore is working hard to become one of its greenest, thanks to the youth of Druid Heights. The 50-year-old nonprofit Druid Heights Community Development Corporation (DHCCDC) connects staff with community and youth volunteers to create and maintain parks and steward a cleaner, greener neighborhood.

The DHCCDC's Environmental Stewardship Program, which received seed funding from BCF, is a community-based workforce that includes five Druid Heights youth and one part-time DHCCDC employee. This team keeps the neighborhood blocks cleaner and on a maintenance plan for the area's green and open space strategy. BCF funding provides stipends for the youth, and purchases the necessary tools and supplies for upkeep for the community's parks, playgrounds, and environment.

Their efforts are helping to attract new homeowners and new investment to Druid Heights, a community with an average household income of just $14,487 and 15% of the population living in poverty. High vacancies, dumping, and other issues have made it difficult for multi-generational families to stay in the neighborhood. Their efforts are helping to attract new homeowners and new investment to Druid Heights, a community with an average household income of just $14,487 and 15% of the population living in poverty. There is a positive correlation between green space and the overall mental health and well-being of individuals. Following the recommendations in the city's Comprehensive Master Plan to address blight, the Environmental Stewardship Program's team continues to plant grasses and native trees to increase green space, create visual interest, and reduce island flooding.

The youth workers also are growing as community leaders and advocates with invitations to participate in resident-majority community association meetings, a crucial growth component of DHCCDC's "Build People First" strategy.

TOGETHER, WE CAN BUILD A BETTER BALTIMORE.

Druid Heights Project Brings Green Space and Flood Protection to Baltimore Neighborhood

November 15, 2024

With DMW support, Elzing Street Green Space creates resiliency in underserved area

Over the years, a block in the Druid Heights neighborhood in West Baltimore had become a dumping ground for old mattresses, broken appliances, and rubble.

But now, the site is transformed. Where heaps of trash had once covered enough surface that they increased flood risk to the area, there's now a green

Bakers View Homeownership Development Project

On October 15, 2024, Druid Heights Community Development Corporation (DHCDC) was pleased to join the JP Morgan Chase-Baltimore Housing Innovation Cohort. This needed support assists the organization with our Bakers View Homeownership Development project. With support from JPMorganChase the cohort will increase organizational capacity, strengthen local partnerships and expand acquisition and rehabilitation of vacant and abandoned homes.

Bakers View Homeownership Development project -Phase II includes the new construction of eight (8) units in the 2300 block of Division Street (2309-2323 Division Street). In Spring 2024, DHCDC continued with building the eight (8) units. The current phase includes Edgemont Builders, Arch Plan, KCW Engineering, Baltimore City Department of Housing and Community Development, Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development, Neighborhood Impact Investment Fund (NIIF) and Baltimore City Department of Planning.

In partnership with our public and private stakeholders, DHCDC has worked with Baltimore City to eliminate more than 40 blighted properties for Phases I and II of the Bakers View project. JP Morgan Chase has committed over $400,000 towards the affordable homeownership project. The project has received over 2 million in City, State private funding for the Bakers View project, which is part of a larger effort to revive the entire corridor near the Pennsylvania Ave Main Street and Black Arts District. In addition to securing the construction financing from Neighborhood Impact Investment Fund (NIIF), the project has received funding from State Baltimore Regional Neighborhood Initiative Funds (Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development), Enterprise Foundation, Bank of America and West North Avenue Development Authority. Upon completion, Bakers View will feature 58 affordable townhomes that will overlook a public square that sits on 2.7 acres of high-quality green space.

Druid House Transitional Housing

In 2000, DHCDC implemented the Druid House Transitional Housing Program which consists of 24 residential rental units. This project was financed using tax credits, grants and loans from the State of Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development, Baltimore City Department of Housing and Community Development, and Enterprise Community Partners. Druid House entails 14 units in the apartment complex located at 1711 McCulloh Street, which is a renovated apartment building with a community room and outdoor courtyard space for residents' use. Druid House also includes ten additional units which are located in duplexes along McCulloh Street. The Druid House Transitional Housing Program is one of the few programs that exist in Baltimore City that provides normal living apartments as shelter for women and children. The number of homeless women is steadily increasing with limited resources to assist this particular population. Druid House program goals and purposes is to provide homeless women and their 10 families with a safe environment and needed resources in order to promote independence and self-sufficiency.

Charles R. Uncles Senior Plaza

Charles R. Uncles Senior Plaza is a 47 unit senior housing building renovated in 2000 at 607 Pennsylvania Avenue. The $5.6 million project was financed with tax credits and grants from the State of Maryland DhcD, Baltimore City DHCD, and Enterprise Community Partners. The 1983 building was originally used as Saint Joseph's Roman Catholic seminary. After DHCDC, Inc. renovated the building in 2000 for use as senior apartments, it names the property after the first African American Roman Catholic priest, Charles R. Uncles. The renovation preserved and accentuated remnants of the building's history, including the seminary's original chapel, which was converted to a community multipurpose room. The room is enclosed by an ornate arched ceiling and received light through an elegant circular window on the northeast end.

Housing Counseling

HUD - approved Housing Counseling has been helping consumers across Baltimore make informed housing decisions for almost 50 years. Wherever you are in the housing process, we are here for you -- providing insight and answers you need to make the choices that are right for you.

TESTIMONIALS

I want to express how awesome Mrs. Rice has been to me. Her work has been outstanding, Mrs. Rice always goes the extra mile, beyond all expectations. She has been amazing from the very beginning, always above and beyond everything she has to do. Her motivation and the consistency she shows rubs off on others. I always tell Mrs. Rice she's almost as nice as me, but she is in fact just as nice. I commend you on your staff. Druid Heights Community Center has really impressed me, with all the assistance given to the community."

"Thank you so much for everything this was an amazing class!!! So much valuable info."

I sat down with my wife and said, "I honestly do not want to leave, I got this house for the children and for our legacy". After talking to my wife, we both called back Chloe and talk the honest truth. She said, "Well let's do what we can to keep it". The program approved us, we kept the house, custody changed and the children loves the house, running around so proud to be there. I owe Chloe a lot. Most know me as serious, intense and to myself but I had to write this as a really small token of gratefulness towards MAF and Chloe. Thank you."
